

PUBLIC LEDGER

THIRD YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., MONDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1894.

Purely Business!

The contents of a newspaper represent a cash value. No publisher can afford to give advertising "notices" for the benefit of his paper. It is a waste of time and money to pay him over his counter free gifts of dry goods or other personal effects. The ultimate business concern. Its contents are its stock in trade, and nothing else. It is a waste of paper to pay him over in that part of the paper they never use.

The Cuttled Off

Upon the Ledger for free notices have become so burdensome that we are forced to publish the following terms:

For Notices of Success.

Exclusions, fares, or other public notifications where a fee is charged, except, &c. THE LEDGER will charge a five-line local insertion $1.00, and his to pay his expenses, and hereupon will be held responsible. This however, is not to be a rule. This however, is not to be a rule.

Does Not Include

notices of Lodge meetings or church services, which must not exceed ten lines.

Avoidance of Disputes

Under no circumstances, except payment of the rate, the Ledger in The LEADER is to enter a line of the first newspaper in the city, or any subsequent insertion. A customer orders a five-line local insertion $1.00, and his to pay his expenses, and hereupon will be held responsible. This however, is not to be a rule. This however, is not to be a rule.

All matter for publication must be handed in before 9 o'clock in the morning of each day.

THE WIFE.

She'd buy him a Christmas tree, but she doesn't know what he wants, though the rim of his hat is broken.

And the knees are out of his pants.

THE MRS.

To buy him a Christmas tree, but he doesn't know what he wants, though the heels are out of her hose and the toes are out of her shoes.

THE PRESENT.

He buys her a watch-on-chain: She buys him a Christmas tree.

You can carp as you will at the rhyme, but you cannot deny its truth.

MAYSVILLE WEATHER.

What We May Expect for the Next Twenty-four Hours.

WEATHER VANE—FALL.

Blue sky—overcast.

With clouds above—twill winds grow.

It blizzards—breaks—coldly will it blow.

Unseen blizzards show—no chance we'll see.

For the above forecasts are made for a single hour, and are not a change tomorrow evening.

The commission of the present Postmaster at Cynthiana will expire January 9th.

Mrs. Kate Garr, mother of Dr. C. R. Garr of Flemingsburg, died at Louisville of pneumonia.

Dr. John A. Mitchell the dentist is ill with pneumonia at the home of Mr. C. P. Vawter, Springfield.

Colonel M. C. Russell contemplates some improvements in his big business building in the near future.

Citizens of Winchester propose to organize a local fire insurance company if the threatened increase in rates for that city is carried out.

After January 1st, Ashland's telephone rate will be $30 per month for business houses within one mile of the central station and $20 for residences.

Miss Adah Lee Soules returns to Middlesboro this afternoon.

Colonel and Mrs. S. N. Moyer are now at the Hotel Elm, Cincinnati.

Miss Louie Briner will leave tomorrow, to resume her studies in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Kackley have returned to their home at Flemingsburg.

Mr. John Schenck and sister, Miss Emma, are spending the day in Cincinnati.

Miss Lydia Rudy of Bellvue arrived last evening on a visit to Miss Bellvue.

Mr. C. P. Vawter of Springfield has returned from a visit to relatives at Madison, Ind.

Professor J. H. Rowland returned Saturday to a visit to friends and relatives at Blanchedale, O.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. McPhee of Lexington are in the city on a visit to friends and relatives.

Mr. John D. Bruer went this morning to Paris, to take his position as Book-keeper with the Power Company Co.

Mrs. Norene Soules will return to Lexington this afternoon after a holiday visit to the family of her uncle, Mr. John Duley.

Miss Grace Friedman of Clermont, O., Instructor in Latin and Greek in Antioch College in Yellow Springs, O., is visiting her sister, Mrs. James A. Wallace.

Mr. Joseph Morford, an old Maysville boy who had to leave to seek his fortune elsewhere, and who is now located at Lexington, is in the city on a visit to relatives.

Professor L. S. Kays and family of Orangeburg spent Christmas week with his brother, Professor Thomas H. Kays of Highland County, O., on their return as guests of Mrs. Barcroft.

Buyers are similar to other people—they like to be asked, and when they see an advertisement in THE LEDGER they naturally regard it as an invitation to call. No one likes to go where he is not invited or wanted.

Born, to the wife of Mr. James Downey, a fine daughter.

Louisville had a $50,000 fire Saturday morning. J. M. Robinson & Co. the big drygoods firm coming in for about $5,000.

Mr. William B. Grant on Saturday lost $10 in silver quarters between The State National Bank and G. W. Geisel's grocery. Finder will be rewarded on returning it.

Wallace Brothers are removing their cigar factory and store from the Senate Building on Market street to the Chamber of Commerce Building, corner Front and Market streets. Their new quarters have been repaired and papered and will present an attractive appearance.

PAY AS YOU GO!

A CATHOLIC PRIEST'S SENSIBLE PLAN OF BUSINESS.

It originated in Kansas. Works well, and Father Kinsella proposes to extend it.

Colonel George T. Gunnip, Agent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, with whom Mayville Commandery made a portion of the pilgrimage to Denver in 1892, hasn't forgotten "the boys." Yesterday Mr. E. A. Robinson received a letter enclosing check for a ticket to the Charity Ball. While it is too late to include his "costume" in the regular list, it may be stated here: "Colonel George T. Gunnip, Cincinnati; Santa Fe smiles at $3 each, trimmed with Atchison and Topeka lace; no dice."

ARM AMPUTATED.

A Recent Accident Ends Disastrously For Charley Dawson.

The LEDGER of December 14th had brief mention of the fact that Charles L. Dawson, formerly of this city, while carrying a gun slipped and fell, the gun going off as a matter of course, and its contents entering his arm.

The accident occurred at his home, Holton, Kansas, but it is intended he will be under way in a few days.

It was at first thought that nothing more serious than a severe wound would come of it, and that Mr. Dawson would be well in a few weeks.

Saturday, however, a letter was received by his brother, Constable W. B. Dawson, requesting that Dr. J. H. Samuels be sent over, and that he come prepared to amputate the arm.

Accordingly Dr. Samuels went yesterday to Dunkinville, about twenty miles distant, and he did not return up to the hour the LEDGER went to press this morning.

He was accompanied by Dr. Samuel Harrover.

FOUR FIRES SATURDAY.

But Luckily They Were All of the Small Order.

Colonel M. C. Russell contemplates some improvements in his big business building in the near future.

Citizens of Winchester propose to organize a local fire insurance company if the threatened increase in rates for that city is carried out.

After January 1st, Ashland's telephone rate will be $30 per month for business houses within one mile of the central station and $20 for residences.

They were no hill, what are you going to do with the man who does not clean the snow from his sidewalk?—Danville Advocate.

Send him to Danville, of course.

Mr. Thomas Easton of Mt. Sterling died Saturday at Providence Hospital, Washington City, of cancer of the stomach, aged 58. The remains were sent to Mt. Sterling.

It will take nearly $10,000 to pay the dividend to stockholders of the Mason County Building Association. Treasurer Hoyle expects to begin handing out the cash Wednesday.

William E. Lander, son of a Fleming county farmer, went to the barn Saturday morning to milk the cows. Some time afterward he was found dead. Epilepsy. He was 26.

THE LEDGER's articles favoring free tarpaulins have been pretty widely copied into the state papers—showing that all Kentucky is becoming aroused to the importance of making travel free.

The subject for consideration at the M. C. A. Gospel Meeting for men last Sunday will be "The Abomination of Abomination Spoken by Paul the Apostle." Mr. Harvey Lyons will lead.

The death of Dudley C. Lovan of Lexington is now explained as a suicide on account of business difficulties. He had $30,000 life insurance.—$20,000 not a year old—but the company will not contest its payment.

One of the prettiest, the brightest, and altogether the best exchanges that comes to THE LEDGER is The Felicity (O) Times. But then it should be remembered that Fletcher L. Day is the Editor and one of the proprietors, and "Fletch" has only one way of doing things—the right way.

The net proceeds of Mayville Commandery's Charity Ball are $150. This sum will be turned over to the proper persons for relief of the poor of the entire city, and not for the relief of members of the Masonic Order, or of those dependent on it, as some papers and persons have stated.

His Polar Majesty, J. Frost, Esq., does not venture into a room occupied by a Chicago Gas Stove. They know how to make 'em in that village by the recent "Dream City," and such a stove will protect your water pipe also. At S. B. Oidham's only. Second street East of Market.

John Cook, familiarly known as Jonas, an attaché of this office, is now investing his spare change in blooded stock. He bought a thoroughbred horse yesterday morning from George Pollett for $1, paid him for the animal's dinner and then sold him to Robert Pollett for $1. That's a horse and a feed on Jonas.

AMERICA FOR AMERICAS AMERICANS

MCKINLEY AND WILSON ABROAD.

In 1890 William McKinley was burned in effigy in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1894 William L. Wilson was dined and housed in London because he is the author of a Free-trade Tariff Bill. These are significant facts.

WONDERS will never cease. Here we have on the same day MATTHEW CALBRATE BUTLER who has for three terms sat in the Senate from South Carolina as an ideal ex-Confederate Brigadier and the personification of Southern chivalry and Democracy, leaving a manifesto to the effect that for twelve years the elections in his state have been fraudulent; and ALLEN, a Democratic Populist in the Senate, calling for an investigation by that body of the question whether or not the state of Alabama has a government that is Republican in form. For years and years, says the Washington correspondent of The Philadelphia Star, the Republicans have been calling attention to the fact that with a few exceptions the elections in the Southern States were fraudulent, and that the majority of the people therein were disfranchised.

The only head given to them was the derisive cry of "bloody shirt" "force bill," "Federal bayonets at the polls," "negro domination," "Yankee hate," and other like opprobrious epithets. The Republicans had to give the fight up in despair, the newspapers ridiculed them, and they were turned down on the issue time and again at the polls. The Pennsylvania Senators CAMERON and QUAY, well said, when the so-called "force bill" was cast aside: "The only way to get at these wrongs quickly is to allow them to go on unnoticed, and you will find that the perpetrators of the wrongdoing and the beneficiaries will sooner or later begin quarreling among themselves. Then, and not till then, will justice be secured."

Senator BUTLER's manifesto is one of the most remarkable statements, coming as it does from a man of his high standing and intelligence, that has been flashed on the public in many a day. It should be read and studied carefully. When I first perused it, I could scarcely believe my eyes. I found myself involuntarily muttering the words, "has the million surely come?"

Speaking of the South Carolina election laws, and of his course in appealing to courts to test their validity, Senator BUTLER says:

"The story for a beginning goes back to a period two years ago, when a shrewd lawyer constructed and caused to be enacted a system of registration and election laws calculated solely for the purpose of preventing even the remotest possibility of negro domination of which at that time the people of the South were very much afraid, under existing Federal election laws.

"It put all elections in the state practically under the control of the state machine, and things went just the way the machine said. Of course we all acquiesced in these laws for a great many years, for no one seemed to think there was any harm in them. To tell you the truth, I have never read them or knew what was in them until very recently. The white people generally were very well satisfied with this arrangement of affairs, and for years things ran along very smoothly until the 'Liberators,' so-called, got hold of the machine."

It will be seen from what follows that

"A grateful Mother"

Brown's Iron Bitters.

In buying look for crossed Red Lines on wrapper.

BROWN CHEM. CO., BOSTON, MASS.

the moment BUTLER's faction among the white people in South Carolina lost their grip he began to open his eyes. He continues:

"Now it is charged that, although acting strictly under the law, they have disfranchised 40,000 white voters and elected TILLMAN to the Senate. My term expires on the 4th of March next and I shall never be a candidate again for any political office. But I am interested in peace and good order in the state, and I say to you, just so sure as these laws remain unchanged shotguns will play a prominent part in future political campaigns, and voters will walk through blood to the ballot-boxes. This is why I am interested in the matter at the present time.

"Nobody knew how by these laws were nullified the workings of the last campaign, but to stand them they are so clearly unconstitutional that there can be no doubt whatever as to the result. I believe the Supreme Court of the state will so decide. I presume TILLMAN will come here to take his seat the 1st of next December, and the question of unconstitutionality may then have not been decided by the highest tribunal of the land. In that case it is my belief that the Senate itself would have the right to decide as to whether the Legislature that had chosen a Senator was a constitutional body or not."

BUTLER was a Confederate cavalryman during the war. He lost a leg at the big cavalry fight at Brandy Station when PLEASONTON surprised the Confederate corps of JEB STUART at the outset of the march of LEE's army and the Army of the Potomac from the banks of the Rapidan to Gettysburg. He is a born fighter, and from what he says he intends stirring things up in South Carolina. In the meantime the band may continue to play "It was ever thus," and the Republicans can say: "Let them fight it out. It is not our funeral."

They are in the position where they can be becomingly other to themselves, in the language of Lawyer JOHN FOW'S immortal friend SHAKESPEARE, as FOW writes it: "Whether he kills CASSIO, or CASSIO him, or each do kill the other, it does not make a confounding bit of difference to us."

We have sent out a large number of statements to subscribers whose accounts are long overdue. If they still want the paper the accounts must be paid by January 1st.

Franz J. Chenevix, which he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. Chenevix & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, and state at present, and said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED FIFTY DOLLARS for each and every case of iron mines to be run.

Frank J. Chenevix, an old resident of Pittsburgh, was found in a snow drift just outside this town almost frozen to death and suffering from severe bruises and cuts that covered his head. He is unable to tell how he was injured. It is evidently a case of hold-up. Truester may be removed, having fallen from exhaustion and cold.

AYLANTON, Ky., Dec. 31.—Frederick Truester, a man of 30, was found in a snow drift, having fallen from exhaustion and cold. He is unable to tell how he was injured. It is evidently a case of hold-up. Truester may be removed, having fallen from exhaustion and cold.

AYLANTON, Ky., Dec. 31.—The Champion mine will resume operations January 2, after an idleness of nearly three months. The iron and coal men will be put to work. The resumption of activity in this mine is taken as a most encouraging sign that the iron trade has shown for the past two years.

KILLING A Mine.

ALBANY, Ky., Dec. 31.—Taylor Davis, while working in a coal mine near Alpha, this county, was killed by the explosion of a gun. Davis was a black Hand who was sent to work and his dead body was recovered after working 36 hours. He leaves a wife and several children.

TWO FIREMEN

Killed by Falling Walls in a New York Blaze.

One of the Victims Was Battalion Chief James B. Bresnan.

They Met Their Death in the Line of Duty. White Fighting in a Fire in a Building's Six-Story Building.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Battalion Chief James B. Bresnan, 35, and Fireman John L. Rooney met death early Saturday morning while fighting a fire in Cassidy's Sons & Co.'s gas and electric fixture works in West Twenty-fourth street. The fire was on the fifth and sixth floors, and Chief Bresnan, surrounded by men of Engine companies 4, 12 and 9, was cutting his way up the stairway leading to the fourth floor. Without a moment's thought he cut his way up on the fifth floor, gas way under the weight of a heavy piece of machinery, which carried away the stairway. Chief Bresnan and Assistant Foreman John L. Rooney, both of whom were in the machinery as it struck the fourth floor, both were probably instantly killed.

Half a dozen firemen were also pinned down on the stairway leading from the fourth to the fifth floor, but they managed to cut their way out in the face of the intense heat. Four of the men were painfully but none seriously burned. It was impossible to make an effort to rescue the bodies of Chief Bresnan and Assistant Foreman John L. Rooney, who were still pinned under the machinery, though firemen were clearing away the debris to get at the bodies and remove them.

Chief Bresnan had hardly reached the scene of a fire in Brassard alley, near East Eleventh street, when an engine was sent up to the fire in the factory. The building is six stories high, and on the ground floor it extends through to West Twenty-third street. Above the first story there is an engine and air shaft between the two, which is about Twenty-fourth street portions of the factory. With the exception of the second floor, which was used by H. R. Horner & Co., furniture dealers, the entire building on Twenty-fourth street was occupied by Cassidy & Sons. Loss, $50,000.

CHRISTMAS HORROR.

Over Forty Persons Lost Their Lives in an Obscene Town in Oregon.

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec. 31.—A holocaust occurred at Silver Lake, Lake county, Ore., on Christmas eve, in which forty-one persons were burned to death and sixteen badly injured, five of whom died.

A large crowd assembled in Christman Brothers' hall to attend a Christmas tree festival. While the festivities were at their height some one climbed a ladder from which he was going on. In doing so his head struck a lamp hanging from the ceiling overturning it. The lamp immediately caught fire, and everything in the room became dry and inflammable. In a moment the room was soon a mass of flames. Some one shouted: "Shut the doors and keep quiet; it can be put out."

By this time the confusion was so great that no one could be found to get the doors open. The iron door struck a lamp hanging from the ceiling overturning it. The lamp immediately caught fire, and everything in the room became dry and inflammable. In a moment the room was soon a mass of flames. Some one shouted: "Shut the doors and keep quiet; it can be put out."

By this time the confusion was so great that no one could be found to get the doors open. Women and children were trampled under foot, and as there was only one exit to the hall, and the fire between the majority of the crowd and the door, many rushed headlong into the flames.

The building, a two-story frame structure, contained Christman Brothers' store. In the first floor was the hall, which was rented for gatherings of all kinds.

The town is seventy-five miles from a telegraph office, and the news was brought here by stage from Silver Lake. Only meager particulars were extanted, as the little town is in a frenzy of excitement.

Turned to Snow Drift.

ENGLISH, Ind., Dec. 31.—Walter Robertson, a man of a team, wagon and five passengers, en route from Grantburg to Tawell, fell over a cliff into a snowdrift thirteen feet deep. Four of the passengers were killed, but all were nearly frozen before being rescued after six hours' work. The drift was nearly an eighth of a mile wide, and in place was twenty feet deep.

WASHINGTON.

Alcohol in the Arts Still a Fussing Matter.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—As the courts have been invoked to obtain an injunction against the collection of the income tax, it is likely that those interested in the section of the tariff bill will press for the freedom of the treasury in the same, and also seek this means of compelling the treasury department to carry out this section. The law which passed last session provides that the treasury department shall not be compelled to collect the tax to be free of tax under certain conditions. The secretary of the treasury has given many hearings on this subject, but has not formulated any regulations.

The treasury department has as soon as possible made an effort to enforce the law they will try to do so. The commissioner of internal revenue has found the nut a hard one to crack, because the law provides that when used by any manufacturer, or in any medicinal or other like compound, and he claims this will open the way to many violations of the law.

There are congressmen, however, who think the regulations could be so framed as to prevent this, and an effort will be made this session, led by Senator Hoar, who had the paragraph inserted in the bill, to pass a resolution to prohibit the treasury from carrying out the law as it stands.

BARK WRECKED.

The Oeo Breaks Amidships Off Hollyhead.

Her Entire Crew of Twenty-Six Go to the Bottom.

Not a Vestige of the Vessel Can be Recovered and There is No Prospect of Any Salvage—Extreme Damage wrought by the Gale.

LEXON, Dec. 31.—The British bark Osco was wrecked in a gale at Hollyhead, early Sunday morning, and with her perished her entire crew of twenty-six men. The Osco was driven ashore back of the Holyhead breakwater. Her right side was broken off, and she ran aground on the coast guard at 4 o'clock in the morning. At that time it was pitch dark, and great waves were washing the breakwater. In spite of the danger of being washed into the sea, the gun-crew passed along the breakwater and, having rigged up the rocket apparatus, began firing life line in the direction of the wreck. The faint light of the rockets soon disclosed the fact that the vessel had broken in two and that the crew had fallen overboard, crashing the lives out of several of the crew. A few survivors could be seen clinging to the rear half of the vessel, and their piteous cries for help could be heard from the rocks below. After many failures, the coast guard succeeded in firing a line over the wreck, but by that time all on board had perished. A lifeboat vainly tried again and again to reach the wreck, but a rescue of the crew could be seen a mile away, and there is no prospect of any salvage. Several bodies have been washed ashore.

At Liverpool the lower parts of the city are inundated, as they were a week ago.

Boats and wreckage washed ashore on the coast of Lancashire indicate that the British bark Loweswater has been lost. She left Galveston in tow on Dec. 25.

The gale of the last two days did enormous damage on the coasts of north France, Belgium and Germany. Seven large sailing vessels were towed into Bremenhaven in a badly shattered condition. Seven coasters, including some of the largest abroad, were lost. The Ostend-Dover steam packets suffered.

ST. JOHN, N. F., Dec. 31.—A furious gale in the Bay of Fundy, which has been so high that the mail steamers were detained at this place for twenty-four hours. It is the general opinion among those who are engaged in the shipping trade that the storm has wrought considerable damage among the coastwise craft.

ANOTHER BARK WRECKED.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 31.—M. F. Rossman, bookkeeper in the American International bank, of this city, was arrested Saturday night by Deputy Sheriff Harry on a warrant issued out by the bank official, charging him with grand larceny. The first deposit in examination of the books kept by Rossman showed a shortage of about $14,000. The money was taken up the amount was taken from him to secure it and it is claimed he is up to his stock and fast hands. Rossman has admitted the theft, and has been locked up to await an examination, which has been set down for Monday. The prisoner has been employed as bookkeeper in the bank for ten years, and was not suspected of any treachery, when his accounts were found crooked.

AN AGED CONVICT FARDONED.

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y., Dec. 31.—Daniel Finley, the oldest convict in Clinton prison, if not in the state, as well as in the country, as he served his sentence of life imprisonment for the second degree of wife murder in New York, in 1860. Since his conviction he has spent nearly the entire time of his imprisonment in Clinton prison. Finley is a complete old man, and is a patriarch now, being nearly, if not quite, 90 years of age. He is very anxious to return to Ireland to die.

KILLED ONE AND WOUNDED ANOTHER.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 31.—In three counties of the state, a crowd of boys were out snowballing. The white thus engaged Fred Long and Aline Cooper passed along, and the boys began pelting them. Long twice told the boys to stop, but when they persisted, he pulled a pistol and fired into the crowd. The first ball struck Willie Winton, a boy of 14 years, and killed him almost instantly. The second one struck a boy of 12 years, a 15-year-old boy. When Long saw what he had done, he laid his sweethearts body and has not been seen since.

BIDDEFORD, Me., LOSSES CITY BUILDING.

BIDDEFORD, Me., Dec. 31.—A fire which started in the toilet room of the building early Sunday morning completely destroyed the building to the first story. The total loss is estimated at $100,000. The building cost $40,000 over thirty years ago. It was insured for $20,000. Many of the contents were saved, but the office was completely burned out and some mail was destroyed. The city was in total darkness Sunday night, in consequence of the breaking of the electric light wires.

BOISE MINERAL PRODUCTION.

BOISE CITY, Id., Dec. 31.—Alfred Eoff, cashier of the Boise City national bank, has prepared for Wells, Fargo & Co. a safe containing the produce of Idaho for the year. Total value is $1,400,000 grand total, $7,644,000.

A TEXAS SENATORIAL RIVALRY.

AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 31.—It is rumored that a strong effort is being made to have Ex-Gov. Culberson a place on the ballot in the Negro race to be elected to the Senate in 1896. All the Negroes from the southern states to Mexico this winter.

SUPERVISING ARCHITECT
Will Not Be Appointed Until the Time Is Reasonably Sure.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Secretary Carville has decided that he will not appoint a supervising architect of the treasury until about the middle of January, when he thinks the new reorganization of the architect's office, which goes into effect on Tuesday, will be in smooth running order.

Any friction that may have developed from the change in the office, he thinks can be better adjusted by the old men familiar with the former workings, rather than by the introduction into the office at once and the same of a new head and a new system. When the new system is well established he will find the office moving along smoothly, and can devote himself, as is contemplated by the new organization, to the technical and scientific work of the office. Mr. Charles E. Egan, of the office, and Mr. T. R. Jones, of the coast guard, at 4 o'clock in the morning. At that time it was pitch dark, and great waves were washing the breakwater. In spite of the danger of being washed into the sea, the gun-crew passed along the breakwater and, having rigged up the rocket apparatus, began firing life line in the direction of the wreck. The faint light of the rockets soon disclosed the fact that the vessel had broken in two and that the crew had fallen overboard, crashing the lives out of several of the crew. Stamp Envelopes Cheaper.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—The Senate, under Senator General Clegg, has issued a circular informing postmasters of a reduction in the price of stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers after January 1, 1895. The general price, however, will not be much less than it is now, but buyers of large quantities will secure these a little cheaper.

The present price of No. 5 is $21.80 per thousand, the price will be sold for $21.72. The price of No. 5 is $22.50 per thousand, the price will be increased to $21.80.

The increase in the price of newspaper wrappers will be very trivial.

Woman Burned.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—Sunday afternoon Mrs. Flora C. Wetzel, the wife of the managing editor of the Washington Evening Star, in a badly shattered condition, was admitted to the hospital, and some of the attendants abroad were lost. The Ostend-Dover steam packets suffered.

ST. JOHN, N. F., Dec. 31.—A furious gale in the Bay of Fundy, which has been so high that the mail steamers were detained at this place for twenty-four hours. It is the general opinion among those who are engaged in the shipping trade that the storm has wrought considerable damage among the coastwise craft.

ANOTHER BARK WRECKED.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 31.—The entire day of the several men for speaker of the assembly received a startling baptism of fire here. Sunday night, for the speaker of the assembly, known to all as the "Speaker of the House," was completely destroyed. Many of the guests leaped from the windows sustaining such injuries as to be unable to rise. Mrs. H. A. Tonks, wife of the agent of the National Cash Register of Dayton, O., died at an early hour Monday morning.

LIU KUN YI

Appointed Chief of All the Chinese Forces.

The Recent Battle at King-Wu-Sai Was Very Severe.

The Japanese soon recovered from the Chinese, who presented a successful pursuit of the retreating Chinese—The Manchurians satisfied.

LOXON, Dec. 31.—A Central News dispatch from Peking says that Liu Kun Yi, secretary of Liang Hsing, has been appointed to the chief command of all the Chinese forces, ousting Li Hung Chung.

The Central News' correspondent at Intong telegraphs:

"Details from Kung-Wei-Sui confirm the reports that the recent battle was fought with great obstinacy. The Chinese made eleven field pieces and some ching guns, and were well handled.

The Japanese charges were repulsed with heavy loss. Their reserves from Hailichong, who had experienced great difficulty on the march, owing to the bad condition of the roads, had made another charge with shouts of victory. This time they carried everything. The Japanese admitted they had killed and wounded 1,000 men.

The condition of Representative and Senator-elect Gear, of Iowa, showed such great improvement Sunday that he will be able to resume his congressional duties within a very short time.

The Bank of Madisonville, which was organized in 1883, has been forced to go into liquidation on account of the illness of its cashier. After the depositors and stockholders are paid in full a handsome dividend is expected.

A dispatch to the Central News from Tokio says: "Xenon, who commands the Japanese troops in Manchuria, reports that the natives have been greatly influenced by the clemency of the Japanese, and that many residents who had fled from their homes are returning with their families. Markets have been opened, Japanese currency introduced freely, and the Japanese administration is working well."

A Pekin dispatch to the Central News says: "Liu Kun Yi has been asked to be relieved of his new office, but his request has been refused. He is believed to be incompetent."

DELEMAN HOUSE.

The Historic Building at Albany, N. Y., is the residence of the late George Washington, the instrument of the Correlation of Thirty Years Growth.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 31.—The entire day of the several men for speaker of the assembly received a startling baptism of fire here. Sunday night, for the speaker of the assembly, known to all as the "Speaker of the House," was completely destroyed. Many of the guests leaped from the windows sustaining such injuries as to be unable to rise.

Just as he was through answering Mr. Goff's probing questions, Sept. 1, Mr. Hyde, having left the Chamberlain, had said that in case of his death he had sent to Major Projector strong early this month. It had been resignation from the force, of which he had been a member for the last two years.

The speaker said that on two occasions since he was appointed in Sept. 1, Mr. Goff's place was on the post of resigning, owing to the continual conflict between the speaker and the speaker.

The speaker, he said, should have absolute charge of the department, but that all he did in that direction were frustrated by the speaker.

The department was, however, left with him, which had been going for years, and they could only be remedied by radical legislation. Real political changes were the curse of the government and as long as politics was a factor in the state, such state of things would exist.

He was sent to headquarters Sunday morning and spent four hours there, packing up his private papers, and then, handing them over to the speaker, he was given a receipt for the reason no bond bearing the number 374,926 is in existence.

The forger is perfect, and it is said several have turned up at different points in the state within the past week.

FORGED COUPONS.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 31.—State Treasurer Sir George F. Dorr, in a letter to a brokerage firm in St. Louis, containing what purported to be a coupon for $30, due July 1, 1886, to the Hannibal & St. Joe railroad state renewal bond, and bearing 8 per cent, interest, was sent to the speaker of the assembly for the reason no bond bearing the number 374,926 is in existence.

The forger is perfect, and it is said several have turned up at different points in the state within the past week.

THE BROOKLYN TABERNACLE.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 31.—At a meeting held in the Tabernacle Baptist church on Atlantic street, Sunday afternoon, by the members of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, it was decided to reorganize under a new name. Dr. Talmage was not present at the meeting.

He enjoys the distinction of being the only inspector unembarrassed by the testimony given before the Lexow committee.

THE LOSS OF HIS EYES.

KNOKKE-LEZ-PEENE, Dec. 31.—John W. Ramsey, an engineer on the Southern railway, died Sunday noon at Injuries sustained in a fall from a bridge over the river. The arch stamping in the first box of his engine exploded, and exploding steam parboiled his body from the waist up. He lingered in the greatest agony for two hours.
